

1. Mapping the Marketing & Sales Process

Benefits Breakdown

- How it Helps the Business Owner: This template helps business owners understand client decision-making psychology by linking marketing collateral and sales processes to core human psychological drivers. It allows business owners to align their messaging with dominant buying motives (such as Self Preservation, Social Status, and Self Actualisation) and pre-empt client concerns across progressive commitment stages.
- How it Helps the Advisor: It provides advisors with a structured 5-stage consultancy sales roadmap (Introduction, Fact Find/Scoping, Data Analysis, Presentation, Implementation) and actionable objection-handling techniques. Advisors can maintain positioning control, establish 'Local Status', and systematically flush out true underlying client objections.
- Who it May Be Suitable For: Business consultants, professional service providers, B2B sales professionals, and advisors structuring consultative or high-value sales engagements.

Step-by-Step Methods for Practical Application

1. Map Customer Motives and Processing Styles:
 - Identify the prospect's dominant buying motive: Self Preservation (security, comfort, certainty), Social Status (acceptance, contribution, validation), or Self Actualisation (achievement, focus, materialism).
 - Assess the prospect's decision processing style using Honey & Mumford's model: Activist (impulsive, needs action sequences), Pragmatist (emotive, seeks proof/data), Reflector (needs time to process), or Theorist (needs to contribute to the solution).
2. Establish Initial Contact Tactics:
 - Select the appropriate approach tactic: Artillery (marketing funnels driving to point of sale), Sniper (direct face-to-face selling), or Platoon (combined marketing and support approach to confirm and scope engagements).

3. Execute the 5-Stage Consultancy Sales Roadmap:

- Stage 1: Preparation & Pre-Approach: Build suspect lists, pre-qualify against visible profile criteria, refine to a prospect list, and establish pre-approach tactics.
- Stage 2: Positioning (Introduction) Meeting: Establish 'Local Status', frame the meeting objective, state your 'Big Idea' with push/pull frames, and secure agreement to enter discovery.
- Stage 3: Scoping (Fact Find) Meeting: Establish permission boundaries, clarify desired outcomes, identify legitimate constraints and risk concerns, and clarify timeline/budget ranges.
- Stage 4: Analyse & Prepare Written Proposal: Perform cost/delivery reviews, prepare solutions around a Minimum Viable Offer, and structure recommendations around constraint/risk concerns.
- Stage 5: Presentation & Implementation Meetings: 'Call out the ghosts', trial close on each proposal point, address remaining objections, and complete engagement paperwork.

4. Flush Out Real Concerns (Objection Handling):

- "It costs too much": Calculate financial loss/gain over time, illustrate feature/benefit trade-offs, and show social status/prestige proof from aspirational peers.
- "It won't work": Trial close logic as it is revealed, and provide social proof (testimonials, referrals, data-based research, industry figures).
- "It won't work for me": Evaluate if circumstance variations negate the solution, and present case studies/stories of similar clients succeeding.
- "I can wait": Demonstrate a logical timeline connecting your offer to end outcomes, calculating the monetary, time, or anxiety cost of delay.
- "It's too hard": Frame the current situation as a 'burning platform' (where jumping sooner minimizes pain), and provide clear action sequences or flowcharts.

2. Sales & Mktg Review

Benefits Breakdown

- How it Helps the Business Owner: It offers a comprehensive diagnostic toolkit featuring 16 audit frameworks to evaluate every aspect of sales and marketing—from product-market fit, pricing models, and digital storyboards to branding and customer loyalty programs. This helps owners identify conversion bottlenecks and friction points where prospects drop off.
- How it Helps the Advisor: It gives advisors a repeatable, step-by-step auditing framework to run diagnostic sessions with clients. Advisors can guide business owners through structured exercises (e.g., 6 Marketing Questions, A.I.D.C.R.A advertising, channel evaluation, tender proposal drafting) to create actionable marketing and sales plans.
- Who it May Be Suitable For: Business advisors, marketing strategists, corporate mentors, and business leaders aiming to audit sales channels, redefine pricing strategies, optimize landing pages, or draft competitive tender proposals.

Step-by-Step Methods for Practical Application

1. Conduct Marketing & Product Diagnostics:
 - Complete the 6 Critical Marketing Questions: clarify target profile, key concerns/problems, legitimate purchasing constraints, unique traits, value addition, and messaging channels.
 - Perform a Product (Fit) Review: evaluate customer fit against resistance factors and compare product capabilities against standard competitor fronts (price, quality, convenience, status, etc.).
2. Construct Messaging & A.I.D.C.R.A Advertising:
 - Complete the 10 Critical Marketing Messages framework (defining target market, one big promise, unique traits, risk removal guarantees, etc.).
 - Structure promotional assets using the A.I.D.C.R.A Model: Attention (bold headlines/graphics), Interest (common problem descriptions), Desire (wants/needs/peer status), Credibility (proof/testimonials), Risk Removal (guarantees/free trials), and Action (clear 3-step instructions).
3. Storyboard the Digital On-Boarding Funnel:
 - Map digital customer journeys across price tiers: Free (lead magnets), Tiny Fee (entry products), Small Fee, Target Client, Golden Client, and Premium Client.

- Design landing page architecture section-by-section, aligning reader logic with landing page logic and specific marketing statements.
 - 4. Develop Outbound Communication Plans & Evaluate Channels:
 - Schedule concept domains across four primary mediums: Video, Article/Content Post, Speech, and Blog.
 - Evaluate sales distribution channel options (Commission-Only, Salaried, Licensed Distributor, Formal Alliance) based on control, cash flow, and scalability trade-offs.
 - 5. Draft High-Impact Tender Proposals:
 - Include contents pages and separator cards for rapid navigation; state full pricing boldly up front.
 - Limit critical success factors to 3–5 key points, frame text positively, and map explicit communication flows to prevent administrative bottlenecks.

3. Speak Easy

Benefits Breakdown

- How it Helps the Business Owner: It demystifies sales communication using the 4-part LITE Framework (Learn, Investigate, Talk, Execute). It helps business owners target ideal 'A' client demographics, build clear promise statements, package scalable service offerings, and craft concise elevator pitches (BBQ statements).
 - How it Helps the Advisor: It provides advisors with a structured workshop template to take professional service providers through a 4-step process—from identifying client pain points to designing leveraged service tiers (e.g., workshops, online coaching, platform presentations) and executing 13-step implementation plans.
 - Who it May Be Suitable For: Accountants, lawyers, financial advisers, business coaches, and professional service firms seeking to transition from transactional, low-margin work to high-value, scalable advisory packages.

Step-by-Step Methods for Practical Application

1. Step 1: Learn Their Concerns:

- Define your target 'A' Demographics and Goldilocks State (ideal conditions across Knowledge, Skill, Resource, Environment, and Attitude).
- Identify 5–6 common client problems, isolate the 3 Main Problems they want fixed, and link each to its root Cause (establishes credibility) and downstream Effect (establishes empathy).
- Formulate core promise statements: Who I Work With, What I Help Them To Achieve, What They Enjoy As A Result, and The Magic Happens When.

2. Step 2: Investigate Scale Options:

- Define your Premium Service Offer (e.g., full strategic planning, monthly KPI reviews).
- Identify Replicated/Automated Components and Layered Delivery Mediums (e.g., video reviews, foundation knowledge workshops, group work-groups) to establish pilot service offers.
- Draft scalable service option statements across delivery formats (Exclusive Coaching, Workshops, Online Coaching, Platform Presentations).

3. Step 3: Talk Their Language:

- Align messaging focus, timing, and channels with the client's decision-making stage.
- Construct BBQ Statements (elevator pitches with permission):
 - General Title: High-level professional role.
 - Positioning Statement: Target audience identifier ("Is he talking to me?").
 - Value Proposition: Direct statement of impact ("What can he do for me?").
 - Left Brain Explanation: Technical approach/methodology.
 - Right Brain Metaphor Story: Relatable narrative/analogy.
 - Visibility Statement: Practical explanation of how delivery occurs.

4. Step 4: Execute Your Plan:

- Complete the 13-task implementation roadmap—assigning specific responsibility (Whom) and timelines (When) to review past clients, create marketing statements, sequence outbound activities, match inbound web traffic, and update hard-copy media.
