
Advisor Logic Branch (If-Then Structure)

Logic Branch	IF (Condition / Trigger)	THEN (Action / Next Step)	Additional Context / Notes
Growth Assessment	IF the client asks, "I'm struggling to figure out how to grow my business"...	THEN apply the CCO Framework . Ask: "Is the issue transactional volume (Capacity), team skills (Capability), or market demand (Opportunity)?"	Do not solve it immediately. Tantalize them with a brief assessment to secure a proper strategy meeting.
Engagement Expansion	IF the client requests help with a specific event, such as a loan drawdown...	THEN use the "Look Both Ways" method. Implement a pre-event revenue model review and post-event management meetings.	This ensures the job is done properly for better outcomes, preventing the perception of "up-selling".
Meeting Frequency	IF the client asks, "Why do we need to meet regularly? We usually just do this once a year."	THEN introduce the Helicopter Story . Draw the volatile ground and ask: "What use is the control tower if the pilot only calls once a year?"	Emphasize that navigating high-impact events (mountains) or internal issues (3-ton loads) requires ongoing dashboard visibility.

Trust Barrier	IF the client's body language becomes defensive, skeptical, or risk-averse...	THEN pause and evaluate your Positioning for incongruence. Adjust your tone and body language to match your values.	A survival response (norepinephrine) has been triggered. Logic won't work until the "vibe" is corrected and somatic trust is restored.
